Death of Mrs. R. H. Batson.

After an illness of several months, Mrs. R. H. Batson died at the family residence in this city Saturday afternoon. While she had been in declining health for about five years, yet she never gave up, and by so doing succeeded in warding off the fatal illness much longer than would have been the case had she yielded to the suffering. Mrs. Batson was a Miss Burdett, being widely connected in this and adjoining counties. She was born Nov. 30, 1849. In early life she united with the church and her beautiful life as a Christian is a lovely example for others to strive to follow. The writer has never known one to live nearer to the teachings of Christ than has Mrs. Batson. She was a lady who always had a pleasant word for everyone, and never did she criticize or comment adversely upon her neighbors, or acquaintances. Another beautiful characteristic was the fact that she never permitted any gossiping or backbiting in her presence. If anyone began to make adverse comment, she politely and lovingly said "Let's change the subject." What a pity we do not have more such pure Christians in the world. What a help it would be towards furthering the cause of Christ. Mrs. Batson was a zealous and ardent worker in the Lancaster W. C. T. U., and as long as she was able, she attended every meeting of that noble order. She was also an earnest worker in the Ladies Aid Society of the Christian church, and this organization will miss her presence and wholesome counsel. She knew the end was near, and talked freely with the family and friends as to her willingness to obey the Master's call, and said "I am living Christ's religion, 'For I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded' (2 Tim. 1:12). She read the scriptures daily, her favorite chapter, if any favorite she had, being the fourteenth chapter of John. She selected the song, "I need Thee every hour," to be sung over her remains, and requested that short services be held at the church, which was done Monday morning, conducted by Eld. Jesse Walden, after which the remains were interred in the Lancaster Cemetery. She leaves, beside the husband, one child, Bessie, and two step-children, Homer and Mrs. Jesse W. Sweetney.

DEAR BRETHREN:—

Cold words can never express the true feelings of the human heart when those feelings are in response to the touch of friendship. So it is in this case. When remembered, as I have been by the lodge together with its members whom I have loved and have tried to serve so well, I find that anything I could or would say would be inadequate to express my true feelings. My heart has always been with you; but this expression, the jeweled link amongst the gold of friendship's chain, has found in fond love, and sweeter communion, its sweetest, tenderest thought. My prayer shall ever be that Garrard Lodge may ever prosper and that the friendship which prompted this thoughtful gift will grow brighter and more true each day and hour, until it finally melts into the horizon of perfect and immortal love.

Thanking you from the bottom of my heart for this remembrance, and asking that I may have the honor of presenting to the lodge, this small token of my regard for its teaching and its members, I remain yours in F. C. and B. JAMES DILLON.

P. S. This chair I send you is not as good looking as your present, but "I guess it will hold you for a while."

A Tribute.

Poor, dear, Cousin "Meek," can we ever forget Her life filled with sunshine for all whom she met?

A Christian she lived, a Christian she died, Her devotion to God, sin could never betide. We wonder why He has taken her away, But He has taken her to Him, where angels stay.

Her body consigned but the grave we will love.

For there she rests, a spotless dove, No hand ever reached her for Christian aid, But in this and the debt she paid.

Her life has been an open book, Pure and clear as a rippling brook.

Lala, Homer, little Bess and father dear, A God, who is just, has left you here.

And as above so you track her life each day At the family reunion, over the way.

You will gather around the great White Throne From where her hand beckons ever and anon.

Cousin Jim.

Get Your Seats.

103 seats have been sold for the "Uncle Josh" Picture Play Co., the laughing success, which will appear at the Opera House on Thursday, February 8th. It is different from the usual attractions, combining features which are alternately humorous and pathetic. Admission 25 and 50 cents. Reserved seats 75c, now on sale at McRoberts drug store.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at R. E. McRoberts' Drug Store.

To Battle Ship "Kentucky."

We hail thee, Oh Kentucky.

Thou, the Monarch of the Sea.

Protect the Starry Banner.

Shield the Flag of Liberty.

We love thee for thy glory.

And the colors that you wear.

We love thee for thy greatness.

And the state whose name you bear.

Thy name is worthy Monarch.

The fairest in the land.

And sons of old Kentucky.

For the right will ever stand.

To meet the foe in battle.

On the land or on the sea.

To face the roaring cannon.

Neath the flag of Liberty.

Bold Shelby, how we love him.

He was noble, brave and true.

He fought for old Kentucky.

For the Red, the White and Blue.

And Clay we all should honor.

He was noble, brave and well.

True sons of old Kentucky.

Of your glory, who can tell?

Condemned, was young Crittenden.

To die in a foreign land.

He bravely faced his sentence.

And unflinching did he stand.

And when the grant bade him kneel.

By his answer all we are awed.

"Kentuckians," he answered.

"Kneel to none but God."

Thy name shall be Kentucky.

Be thou Monarch of the sea.

And sons of old Kentucky.

On the land shall honor thee.

And loved be brave Christians.

Who now sleep beneath the sod.

May his name be our watchword.

May we kneel to none but God.

Composed by John B. Carter, Cartersville, Ky.

There is no better medicine for the babies than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Its pleasant taste and prompt and effectual cures make it a favorite with mothers and small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds, preventing pneumonia or other serious consequences. It also cures croup and has been used in tens of thousands of cases without a single failure so far as we have been able to learn. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. In cases of whooping cough it liquefies the tough mucus, making it easier to expectorate, and lessens the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, thus depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences. ## HOME CURE FOR BLOOD POISON.

Beware of the Doctors' Patchwork; You Can Cure Yourself at Home.

There is not the slightest doubt that the doctors do more harm than good in treating Contagious Blood Poison; many victims of this loathsome disease would be much better off to-day if they had never allowed themselves to be dosed on mercury and potash, the only remedies which the doctors ever give for blood poison.

The doctors are wholly unable to get rid of the disease—the sores and eruptions. This they do by driving the poison into the system, and endeavor to keep it shut in with their constant doses of potash and mercury. The mouth and throat and other delicate parts then break out into sores,
